

	January	<h1>Wild Turkey</h1> Meleagris gallopavo		Cornell Lab of Ornithology - https://www.allaboutbirds.org/guide/Wild_Turkey Animal Diversity Web - https://animaldiversity.org/accounts/Meleagris_gallopavo/
	February			Coloring Guide head, face, throat are blue wattle is red (back of head around to neck) body bronze to blackish brown, except long wing feathers which are gray and white
	March			Size Up to 4 ft (1.2 m) tall, males up to 30 lbs (14 kg)
	April			Human Dimensions Turkeys were domesticated by pre-Aztecs around 800 BC and separately in the south west by about 200 BC mainly for their feathers.
	May			What eats Wild Turkey: eggs and nestlings are eaten by raccoons, opossums, striped and spotted skunks, rodents, groundhogs, raptors and snakes adults are eaten by coyotes, bobcats, eagles, great horned owls, domestic dogs and red foxes. they are also widely hunted by people
	June			   winter  summer
	July					Habitat (home/food/water) egdes - combinations of grassy fields, shrubs, hedges and woodland
	August					Home  communal roost in a tree at night
	September					What Wild Turkey eat: hard mast (acorns, nuts from hazel, chestnut, hickory trees), seeds, berries, roots, grasses, insects, occasionally small amphibians and reptiles
	October							Family Relations Meleagris gallopavo is in the Meleagris Genus (turkeys, has a snood), Phasianidae Family (heavy bodied ground feeders), Galliformes Order (chicken like, blunt wings, spurs), Aves Class (lays hard-shelled eggs, has feathers), Chordata Phylum (has a dorsal nerve cord), Animal Kingdom (eats and moves)
	November							North American Distribution
	December								